

DIANE DUNBAR-The valley's gymnast queen is feted.

150 attend Diane's night

PLEASANTON — Almost 150 local residents had a chance to meet Diane Dunbar, the Valley's Olympic gymnast, at a "Diane Dunbar Night" wine and cheese tasting bash Saturday night in Pleasanton's picturesque Century House.

Enjoying canapes donated by Carolyn Bassler and Joanne Jennings, the crowd sampled wines and cheeses, some of which were donated by George Spiliotopoulos, owner of the Cheese Factory.

On hand was Warren Harding, president of the association that was formed to help Diane with expenses to the invitational competitions that help to keep her in shape for the international meets.

Last year at the age of 15,

Diane was the top American women's gymnast. She'll be a junior at Foothill High School and has been maintaining between an "A" and "B" average in the school career she juggles with her gymnastics career.

The Pleasanton Junior Women's Club is expected to be taking over sponsorship of Diane soon.

Also on hand were members of the City Council and city staff, long-time friends, and well-wishers who wanted to meet the unaffected, sparkling local celebrity for the first time.

Diane practices at the Diablo Gym Club in Walnut Creek — along with her 13-year-old brother, David, and her "sister," Kahea Bright, 15, who has been staying with the Dunbar family two years in order to be near the gym club. All three are coached by Jim Gault.

Diane is looking forward to the Pan American competition in Mexico in October. Following the Pan Am games, she'll be competing in meets in the U S to try to make the Olympic team.

The U.S. Gymnastics Federation pays all her expenses when she travels with the U.S. team. But the Pan Am and National qualifying meets need to be privately funded.

A friend, Hope Noland, has spearheaded a drive for Diane's travel fund. Anyone who can help is asked to call her at 462-3176.

County grants permit

Guard dog facility approved

Alameda County Bureau
HAYWARD — William Schilp was given permission to operate a guard dog training facility on a 65-acre hillside parcel Wednesday provided he constructs adequate — and completely enclosed — facilities.

Acting Alameda County Zoning Administrator Ray Lincoln approved Schilp's request for a variance and a conditional use permit over the objections of Neil Miller and other neighboring property owners.

Lincoln, however, instructed Schilp to remove all but five dogs from the property, located on the side of Pleasanton Ridge, until adequate facilities are built and also required him to cover the sides and dog runs with cyclone fencing.

The permit will run for five years and Schilp can have no more than 25 dogs on the property at one time. He had requested a permit for 50 dogs.

Schilp, who had been operating the training center for 30 dogs without a permit, told the zoning administrator the trained dogs are not "vicious killers."

Neil Miller, who filed a formal complaint against Schilp and who had spearheaded the effort against Schilp's petition, said he was concerned about the possibility of "possible killer" dogs escaping, about the "gruesome" noise and about contamination of his water supply.

He also expressed concern that neighboring property values might drop and taxes might soar. In addition, Miller cited the "fear factor" for neighbors who will have to live in the area, knowing "potentially vicious" dogs might escape. Schilp said he believed Miller was "over-reacting" to an operation that is neither noisy nor dangerous.

Gordon Mills, who is selling the property to Schilp, added he thought Miller had a "negative fixation about dogs" and said the "behavior (of the guard dogs) would probably be far superior to the average neighborhood pet."

Spiliotopoulos suit next?

Attorney shocked by stand

PLEASANTON — Attorney John Corley was somewhat "shocked" yesterday by Alameda County Sheriff Thomas Houchins' appraisal of charges that planning commissioner George Spiliotopoulos was roughed up at the Santa Rita Rehabilitation Center.

Referring to yesterday's three page report by the department's Internal Affairs division, Corley said Houchins was "interpreting" and "selecting" testimony and information to be released to the public, and that his client may be forced to seek redress through a civil suit.

Since the district attorney's office has not filed formal charges against Spiliotopoulos alleging resisting arrest, Corley said he may have to file a civil suit not only to recover damages, but also to unearth those reports.

"We've learned from Watergate what happens when public officials decide what the people ought to know," he said, noting discrepancies between White House and Congressional transcripts of the now famous tapes.

"The sheriff is telling us what that testimony is, and he's interpreting the results of the polygraph test," he charged.

Corley claims both the internal affairs investigator and Murphy said he could see the reports, but that Houchins turned him down claiming the investigation was an "internal matter."

The report released Tuesday said results of deputy sheriff Bruce Munn's lie detector test were "inconclusive," but that Spiliotopoulos' results reflected emotional disturbances indicative of deception "on two questions."

Spiliotopoulos claims Munn yanked him from a cell in the booking area and slammed him against a fence.

Munn countered that the former Pleasanton City Councilman and Mayor pro Tem "uttered a vulgarity" and told the deputy to "come in and get me," when ordered out.

The district attorney's office weighed all the data, Corley said, "and in assuming the sheriff correct on all points, and my client wrong on all still concluded there was no basis for charges."

This contradicts Houchins' statement "that only reasonable and necessary force was used" by Munn, he said.

"If George had been resisting the deputy — which wasn't possible in that cell — and Munn was forced to use 'reasonable and necessary force' in subduing him, they'd have filed the complaint."

Murphy said Tuesday that the sheriff's office conducted a "thorough, comprehensive investigation," but that "no illegal action was taken by either party."

George Harmon, of Harmon and Associates, the firm administering the lie detector tests, said he was bound by his professions' code of ethics not to say anything about the tests.

He would admit only that his firm did administer them and that the sheriff's department was his client.

He would not say whether or not he had worked for the sheriff before, or even give the date the tests were taken.

"You'll have to get the sheriff to tell me I can talk to you," he said.

Sheriff Houchins was not in his office yesterday. Corley has 10 days to file a claim against Alameda County. If the claim is denied he may take the matter to civil court, he said.

Levine named city attorney

PLEASANTON — City Atty. Ken Scheidig yesterday named Harvey E. Levine, a 28-year-old lawyer with the California Coastal Zone Conservation Commission, as his deputy effective Sept. 22.

The city's first deputy city attorney will earn $1,450 a month.

Scheidig said time-consuming litigation had escalated to a point where he could no longer handle it alone.

Levine will be responsible primarily for matters that come before the planning commission, for answering staff questions about legal matters and for assisting in conducting proposed legal seminars for city staff.

Scheidig, hired in April 1973, said Levine may also assist in a code enforcement program that may be instituted to see that zoning regulations are adhered to in the city.

Levine was one of 90 applicants for the post, and one of the 12 eventually selected to appear before a board of city attorneys from Walnut Creek, Livermore and Berkeley.

The final decision was made by Scheidig.

Levine graduated from the Hastings College of the Law in 1974 and earned his bachelor's degree from the University of California at Los Angeles in 1968.

He was a member of the coastal commission for two years, and was charged with regulating development along the California shoreline.

He was also responsible for investigating proposed coastal development for its potential environmental impact.

Levine taught third grade for about a year in the Watts area of Central Los Angeles, but Scheidig said he became frustrated and decided to instead enroll in law school.

Valley school population will swell

All school districts in the valley, save Murray in Dublin, are expected to have increased enrollments when school opens next week.

Figures compiled Wednesday by The Times show that the San Ramon Valley Unified School District, with 13 K-8 schools and four high schools, projects the biggest increase in enrollment as well as the largest total enrollment.

Murray, still declining since a "sewer freeze" four years ago, expects 5,587 students when K-8 schools convene next week. The district's high mark was reached several years ago when 5,800 were enrolled.

Amador Valley Joint High School District, with four campuses including the continuation school in Dublin, projects a 1975-76 enrollment of 4,583, up almost 300 students from 1974-75.

Pleasanton Elementary, at latest estimate, will drop by just 15 students—from 5,245 at the end of May to 5,230 expected. Should the latter figure hold, it would mark the first year the district has dropped in total enrollment.

Livermore Valley Unified projects a total enrollment of 14,844, including 8,088 at the K-6 level, 2,324 in seventh and eighth grade schools and 4,432 at the districts three high schools (Livermore, Granada and continuation).

All three levels, if the figures hold, would be up from the May, 1974 counts. The district had 7,803 at K-6 schools, 2,298 at junior highs and 3,960 at high schools in 1974-75.

The big increase is at the high school level and is explained when comparing incoming freshmen (1,096) with last June's total number of graduates (683).

Livermore totals for the 1973-74 school year were 7,948 (K-6), 2,179 (7-8) and 3,800 (high schools).

Murray had 5,600 students in May with the breakdown showing 4,233 at K-6 schools and 1,289 in grades seven and eight. Special Education accounted for 78.

In 1973-74, Murray had 4,368 K-6 students by May of '74 and 1,266 enrolled in junior high. Special Education classes totaled 100.

A spokesman for the district opined that the total enrollment would probably decline farther in 1976-77.

Amador has gone from 4,042 in 1973-74 to 4,291 last year. Prime reason for the big increase is the adding of a third class at Foothill High School. This despite a slight drop in enrollment expected at Dublin High.

San Ramon's growth borders on the spectacular.

From a 1973-74 count of 11,549 (8,049 in K-8 schools), the district expects 12,850 next week....an increase of 1,300 students in two years.

The 75-76 estimate breaks down to 8,529 K-8 and 4,295 at the four high schools—San Ramon, California, Monte Vista and continuation.

The May figures for 1974-75 were 8,243 in elementary school and 3,658 at the high schools.

They'll be part of an estimated 58.9 million students nationwide trooping back to the books next week.

According to U.S. Commissioner of Education Terrell H. Bell, it is the smallest number in recent years—but the cost of educating them has gone up more than 10 percent from last year alone.

A change of heart

Ann Jolley reverses field-enters race

Employing the politician's prerogative to change her mind, Valley Community Services District Director Ann Jolley reversed herself and filed for re-election yesterday at the VCSD offices.

Jolley's entrance into the campaign makes it a five person race for three slots with only one day remaining before filing closes. Incumbents Dick Fahey and Chuck Ladner are also up for reelection with challenges from Kathie Waterson and M. Bruce Dilashaw.

"I didn't say an emphatic no," Jolley said yesterday. "I've been going back and forth but now the die is cast."

Jolley has been on the board for eight years and although this is her third campaign, she doesn't have any elaborate re-election plans.

"I never did run much of a campaign because I've never had much money" she said a trifle sadly.

The incumbents' main challenge appears to be from Waterson, who sprang into prominence with the Silver-gate Homeowners' Association and its battle over a proposed cluster housing development on Dublin Green.

The homeowners apparently won the first half of their fight, as Ward-Ryder Company, the developer, junked the cluster housing plan and went to a smaller, less dense plan. However, Waterson is leading the fight to cut back the development even more.

"I'm against unplanned development," she said. "I would like to see planned development."

Waterson admits her knowledge of VCSD affairs is somewhat sketchy at this point, but she has definite opinions about the water quality in Dublin.

"We really have bad water," she said flatly, but she, along with many others, is hopeful that the new water treatment plant will improve the quality this fall.

"I care about what goes on and I try to do something about it," Waterson stated, and the VCSD board is a place to do things.

She would like to see Dublin become a separate city, and feels that the opposition of the Alameda County Local Agency Formation Commission can be overcome.

"I've come to brick walls before and managed to find doors," she said hopefully.

She also wants greater citizen involvement in local government.

"If you don't put in your two cents worth, how do you expect to get change?" will be the byword of her campaign.

The VCSD election is scheduled for Nov. 4 of this year.

Did these jaws have BO?

Would you believe a shark sighting in a Pleasanton canal? No? How about a shark-FINDING band of youngsters? While it's highly doubtful the 3½ foot tiger shark found its way into the culvert near the end of Stonedale Drive, Pleasanton, without motorized aid, it WAS discovered Wednesday at that location by a covey of curious Huck Finns and Tom Sawyers. The lad bravely holding the gray and green-hued creature is Jimmy Ghidossi. He found it in company with Mike Nelson. The rather gamy predator apparently was brought to the site by a fisherman who had tired of his capture. Youngster at right is dressed for the occasion with a "Jaws" T-shirt.

Low income housing possible

Kay homes may qualify for funds

LIVERMORE — If Kay Building Company's proposed subdivision near Charlotte Way and East Avenue were done in a less conventional manner, it just might qualify as low-income housing.

So relayed Planning Director George Musso following a planning commission meeting Tuesday night, at which time consideration of the developer's tentative map for the tract was continued to Sept. 16.

A planning staff report on the map recommends it be denied, based largely on the fact there would be no sewage treatment capacity for the development as long as it is not low-income housing.

However, Musso said, the consensus of the commission was that the seven-acre site could be built up with low-income housing and pointed to the Ivanhoe Villas as an example.

The city council adopted a definition of what it means by low-income at the request of Kay Building. The definition, based on federal Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) regulations, considers a family of four earning less than $7,750 annually as low-income.

The developer is interested in the definition because low-income housing qualifies for 10 per cent of the city's remaining but limited sewage treatment capacity.

Another tentative subdivision map filed by Kay Building for 15 acres north of Joyce Street and Katrina Way will be considered by the city council at its Sept. 8 meeting and the developer may ask that low-income guidelines be considered applicable to it.

Homeowners in the area already have expressed their opposition to the development, citing over-crowded schools and potential hazardous traffic conditions.

In other business, the planning commission:

- Continued a public hearing on the application of Ozzie Davis for a conditional use permit to allow continued use of a free standing sign on a used car lot at 2350 First St.

- Continued to Sept. 16 consideration of a tentative parcel map submitted by local attorney David Madis for property at First Street and Trevano Road.

- Recommended on an Alameda County referral that J. Egan & Summit Garage be able to continue operating an automobile wrecking yard at 10617 Alameda Pass Road although the operation is a non-conforming use. The commission also voiced concern at the marginal industrial uses in the area, said Musso.

- Recommended to the county that the application of Raymond Lewis for a building site without frontage at 7505 Lavender Avenue be approved.

Planners firm on park stand

LIVERMORE — The planning commission reaffirmed its position that the proposed mini-park at the southeast corner of S. Livermore Avenue and First Street remain a park only and not include parking facilities.

In a unanimous vote at their meeting Tuesday night, commissioners indicated they believed no changes should be made to the proposed mini-park until the General Plan consultants present a parking proposal for the downtown area.

A mini-park only endorsement

ment also has been presented by the beautification committee but many downtown merchants are pressing for parking spaces at the site.

Councilman Dale Turner and Councilwoman Helen Tirsell both favor a park with parking facilities but when the matter was discussed at a council meeting, they could not muster a third vote to carry their proposal.

The issue was tabled but very well may resurface at the council's Sept. 15 meeting, at which time the entire matter of Livermore's downtown parking will be discussed in-depth.

The planning commission Tuesday night also decided to discuss the downtown parking situation prior to the council's meeting on the matter in order to take a position on the issue.

Off-street parking will be one of two topics considered by commissioners at their Sept. 9 meeting, which then will be followed by a study session. The other meeting topic will be the Environmental Impact Report prepared for the proposed redevelopment of a quarry by Cal Rock and Pacific Cement Aggregates.

There will be no planning commission meeting Sept. 2 but planners will meet on Sept. 16 and 30. Sept. 9 will be both a meeting and study session and Sept. 23 will be a study session only.

'Little cottage' gone

District changes since 60's

Nancy Williams has seen the Amador-Pleasanton school district blossom from the little cottage and five-person "central office" staff of the early 60s to the present quarters at the foot of Main with almost 1,000 persons on the total payroll.

"We have doubled in terms of certificated personnel," Mrs. Williams emphasizes in illustrating the surge of growth that was mirrored in the schools during the late 60s.

When she came to the district 13 years ago, "after earning my five-year pin with Bank of America," Nancy joined a "jack-of-all-trades" staff that did everything from cafeteria accounts, payroll and bills to passing on messages to maintenance man Danny Pons out on the Amador Valley High field.

"We were like a small family," beams Mrs. Williams in recalling the tiny quarters that housed then-superintendent Ray Haskell, purchasing agent Tony Silva, Millie Wing and Frances Laughlin. Millie, secretary to the superintendent then and now, and Tony are still with the district.

From the cottage at Amador, the staff moved to "expanded" quarters in the old home on Main Street where they remained—and grew into a much bigger family—for 7½ years.

When the Main Street quarters were settled, Nancy took up more specific duties. She concentrated on payroll and paying district bills as well as cafeteria accounting.

The payroll increased by leaps and bounds as Amador-Pleasanton added Valley View, Walnut Grove, Harvest Park and Dublin. In 1971, she went strictly to certificated payroll, about the same time the district moved off the NCR machine to a much more sophisticated computer system.

The district now contracts with Fremont Unified School District for data processing services....a far cry from the day when Nancy used to "put the checks for the district staff in the typewriter."

May, a typical month according to the soft-spoken but ebullient certificated payroll clerk, saw 991 persons paid a total of $827,900. That includes both certificated and classified personnel.

Meeting deadlines is the biggest headache.

"We have had some computer problems in the past but never to the extent that we missed a pay day," she adds.

To the outsider it may seem like a dull, rote-like job. But, in fact, it is anything but that, especially when one cherishes the little compliments that are received after a job

Nancy Williams at school district office.

Zealots would pedal even without energy crisis

REINA WHITNEY

Church-goers last Sunday morning were greeted by the whirring of fifty bicycles pedaling their way through Pleasanton's main Street like one giant caterpillar.

They were the Valley Spokesmen, local bicycle touring club, on the first leg of a 35 mile ride to O'Farrell's Ice Cream Parlor in Fremont to celebrate its fourth anniversary. The local group has almost 250 card-carrying members—men, women and children—in a growing popular sport is capturing enthusiasts all over the country.

One member making the trip for the fourth time was David Orza, award-winning cyclist of Dublin, and charter member of the Valley Spokesmen. The seventeen-year-old Dublin High senior was only thirteen when he joined and was the club's first ride chairman.

Now he has gotten his dad Frank and his mom Dolores interested in riding and they both own ten-speeds. Admittedly, they do it for their own pleasure but David's interest has progressed from a hobby to what seems like a future vocation. Because of his all-consuming interest in biking, he has become something of an expert bike mechanic.

During the past year he has worked full time for Wheel-A-Ways Bike Shop and plans to continue part time during school term. He has surpassed the touring skills and would like to go on to the more rigorous riding of the racing cyclists. To further this ambition he has joined the local Grupo Sportivo of Amador led by Walt Hanhy (846-7469), cyclists that train for racing.

An invention that first filled a necessary need for faster transportation, the bicycle has now become a healthy outlet for family fun. We've recently witnessed the extra lanes and paths Dublin, Pleasanton and Livermore are setting aside as encouragement to this popular activity.

Bicycle riding increased in the United States during World War II because of the shortage of automobiles, tires and gasoline. Now we have zealots that would ride even if we didn't have the emergency of a fuel crisis.

Also on the fourth anniversary trip was one such member of Valley Spokesmen, Don Osbourn. He first became interested in bicycling because of just such an emergency. He found it necessary to ride the ten miles from his home in Livermore to his job at Sandia. What first seemed like an impossible chore is now only a pleasant twenty-minute jaunt for the experienced rider.

His wife, Corliss, publicity chairman for the touring club, shares his enthusiasm completely. It has given them a family activity that can include their two young daughters.

The whole family was on the anniversary trip to Fremont. The two-year-old in a special seat attached to her mother's bike, and six-year-old Dana riding her own "Stingray."

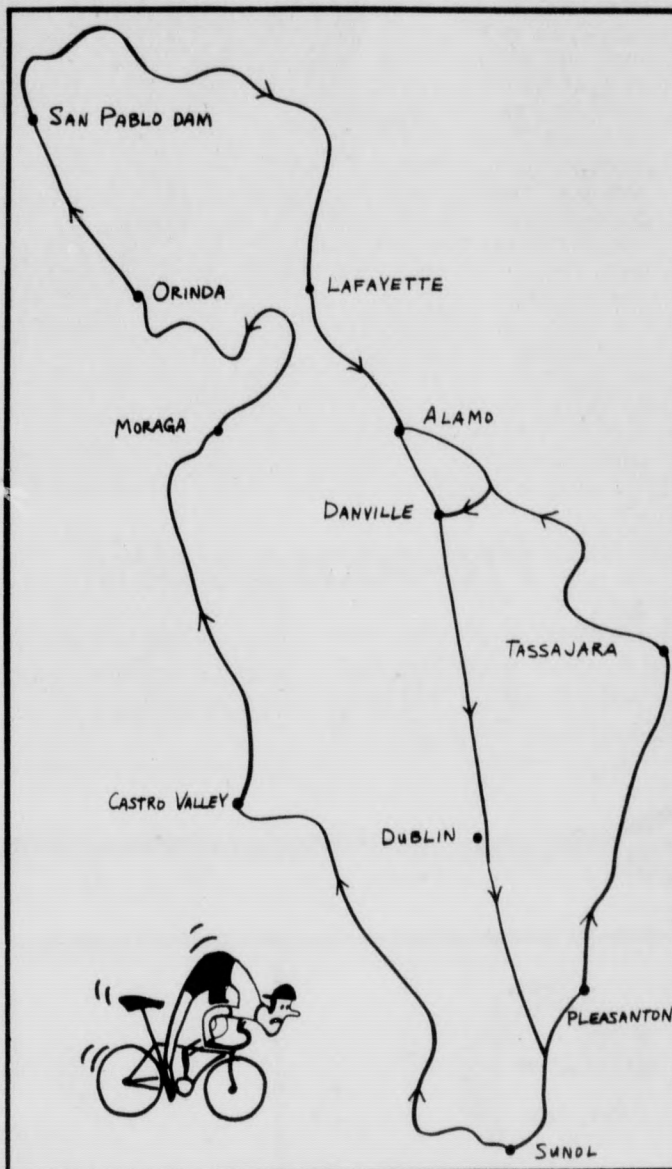

Dana has the distinction of winning an award as the youngest rider in an eight-mile rally in Yosemite when she was only four years old.

The family will also be participating in the upcoming Hekaton Century Classic planned Sunday, Sept. 7 by the Valley Spokesmen.

"Hekaton" is Greek for one hundred, and that's how many miles cyclists of every age, sex and range of experience are hoping to cover.

One hundred forty cyclists have already registered and Secretary Bonnie Powers expects that number to exceed the 400 who participated last year.

Starting point will be Dublin Elementary School at Shannon and Vornac Streets. Wheelmen from as far away as Los Angeles and Chico will arrive carrying their bikes in trucks, vans or bikeracks. Chairmen will start registrations at the Dublin starting site as early as 4:30 a.m. for those cyclists who will be making the 100 "B" loop which will take them through Niles, Palomares and up Redwood Road to Moraga on to San Pablo Dam.

Don Patterson, chairman for the event, recently led ten cyclists in a trial run of the new Hekaton Classic course. According to his report in the club's newsletter, "It is the most challenging century course I have ever ridden—definitely not a piece of cake." The scenic beauty of the course made the twelve hour ride more than worthwhile, according to Patterson.

Mrs. Powers would like to point out that three routes have been planned so anyone will be able to participate. The 25 mile "C" loop will cover valley flatlands in the Dublin, Sunol and Pleasanton areas. The 50 mile "A" loop will extend this through the mildly rolling Tassajara foothills of Mt. Diablo.

A special Hekaton patch will be available to all riders who complete loops totaling 100 miles or more. An "half century" or "quarter century" patch will be awarded to riders who complete 25 or 50 miles. All who participate will receive a League of American Wheelman patch, the national organization of which the local group is a branch.

Requests for registration forms may be made to Valley Spokesmen, P. O. Box 2630, Dublin, or by calling Don Patterson, 443-1463; Greg Davis 445-1657; or Bonnie Powers 828-5299.

Host club members have been busy packaging, sorting and grouping rents for distribution at various check points along the way. They promise plenty of "sag wagons" filled with food, drinks, candy and "bananas for sure."

Attempted murder alleged PLEASANTON — Michael L. Howard, arrested July 18 following a fight in Livermore, was bound over to Alameda County Superior Court following a two day preliminary hearing before municipal court judge William Gale on charges of attempted murder and assault with a deadly weapon.

Howard, 20, was arrested after he allegedly attacked four young men with a tire iron in front of Malley Cafe, 2118 First St., Livermore, late that Friday night.

Two men testified at this week's preliminary hearing.

One charge of assault with a deadly weapon was dropped, according to deputy district attorney Bart Schenone, and bail was reduced from $25,000 to $5,000. It originally was set at $45,000.

Howard will be held at the Santa Rita jail in lieu of bail pending his Sept. 3, 9 a.m., appearance in department three of the superior court.

Taxpayers plea gets brushoff

Alameda County Bureau

OAKLAND — A final plea by the Alameda County Taxpayers Association to maintain the present $3.03 county tax rate fell on deaf ears Tuesday.

The Alameda County Board of Supervisors voted 3-1 to increase the property tax rate by seven cents, to $3.10.

That is six cents less than the increase that had been proposed in the 1975-76 budget.

Only seven additional cents is required to balance the budget, County Auditor Donald Parkin explained, because the county's assessed value increased by 9.8 percent (as opposed to the predicted 8.9 percent) and because of "over-estimated expenditures and unanticipated revenues" that will provide an extra $500,000 balance in the general fund.

Jim Garrett of the taxpayers association urged the board to defer a proposed $6 million allocation for the Hayward Pre-Trial Detention Facility until next year because, he said, construction can't begin until early 1977 and the money will not be needed until then.

Supervisor Joseph Bort told Garrett that, even with the $6 million included in the budget, the county will still have to raise millions of dollars for capital improvements projects over the next five years. "If we had followed your advice two years ago," Bort said, "we wouldn't have had the money to be building the Hayward court building now. I don't buy your argument," he added, "that we should make things easier on the taxpayers now."

"If we don't project our needs into the future," added Bharman Fred Cooper, "and just go by year-to-year, we will face the problems New York and San Francisco are facing."

County Administrator Loren Enoch told the board the county's five-year capital improvements program will cost between $80 million and $100 million and, he added, that includes only $5 million for a new post-sentencing facility (at Santa Rita) and no funds for any health services facilities.

Bort added, "One of the reasons we have the problems we do have is because we went for a long time without (building) any capital improvements. I think Alameda County has delayed on those jails right up to the brink."

He continued, "We have delayed so long we are now under a court order" to construct pre-trial detention centers. "We have got to move along to meet our legal and moral obligations," he said.

After finding out that a $2.5 million reduction in this year's budget would negate the need for any tax rate increase, Supervisor Tom Bates made a motion to that effect. It died for lack of a second.

The motion to increase the tax rate to $3.10 was approved by a 3-1 vote with Bates in opposition and Supervisor Charles Santana absent.

The board also set property tax rates for various special taxing districts within the county, including: 25 cents for the Dublin Library; 64 cents for the Livermore Area Recreation and Park District; and 28 cents for Zone 7.

Tips on how to prepare baby beef

Baby beef has debuted at the meat counter but the public is still puzzled. Questions about quality, flavor and preparation abound and have not been adequately answered.

Baby beef, in fact, is quite different from grain-fed beef and requires different preparation methods. Prices are as much as 25 per cent below grain-fed beef, and baby beef has fewer calories and less saturated fat.

Using conventional beef preparation methods, some baby beef experimenters have been disappointed with results. Home economists at Sunset Magazine have studied these problems and have come up with some solutions.

Because of its low fat content baby beef is best rare. The use of melted butter or oil when browning, broiling or barbecuing helps prevent sticking and adds color to this light-red meat. Carefully seasoned and prepared, baby beef can taste surprisingly like veal.

The meat is slightly different from either veal or older beef. Its flavor is milder than beef and stronger than veal. The cuts are often a good size for small families—smaller than beef and larger than veal. Baby beef is also marketed under the names of calf, light beef, California baby beef and mature veal.

Baby beef can be cooked very much like grain-fed beef, but some adjustments are required for best results. When cooking a tender roast—rib and loin cuts—brush frequently with butter or oil to help browning. It's best cooked to rare. Since many baby beef roasts are too small to be listed on roasting charts, boneless baby beef roasts should be cooked 37 to 43 minutes per pound. Bone-in roasts take about 22 minutes per pound or to 140 degrees on a meat thermometer.

Round and chuck cuts can be cooked in about the same manner as tender roasts but should be tenderized first. Instant tenderizers of wine-and-oil marinades work well.

Short ribs, stew and briskets can be braised just as grain-fed beef is, except the cooking time should be shorter. These cuts should cook tender in 45 minutes to one hour.

When barbecuing or broiling loin and rib steaks, brush with melted bu or oil with a little soy sauce or bottled brown gravy added to obtain color. For added flavor they may be marinated with a sauce which contains some oil.

Chuck round, plate and flank steaks should be cut or pounded into thickness of $\frac{1}{4}$ or $\frac{1}{2}$ inch thick, coated in flour or crumbs and quickly pan fried. Cube steaks should be breaded or floured. Breading helps to keep the meat moist and juicy.

To help brown ground baby beef, brush with oil or barbecue sauce. Meat patties will be juiciest when cooked to the rare stage. Ground baby beef can also be used in meatloaf and meatball recipes. Taste will be similar to that of grain-fed beef, though perhaps milder. Cooking time will be the same.

completely. Add to flour mixture and beat with electric mixer at medium speed 2 minutes. Scrape bowl occasionally. Add 1 cup flour. Beat at high speed 1 minute or until thick and elastic. Transfer half this mixture to another bowl. Mix in wheat germ, molasses, soup mixture and $\frac{3}{4}$ cup flour. Add more flour if needed to make a dough which leaves sides of bowl.

Turn out onto floured surface and knead 5 minutes until smooth and elastic. Place dough in buttered bowl, turning to coat all sides. Cover. To remaining yeast mixture, stir in $1\frac{1}{2}$ cups flour or enough to make a soft dough which leaves sides of bowl. Knead and place in bowl as above. Place bowls in warm draft-free place and let rise 1 hour or until doubled. Punch down. Divide both doughs in half. Roll each part into 8x8-inch square. Place a wheat germ square over each white one. Press layers together firmly. Roll up tightly. Seal lengthwise edge and ends. Place each roll in greased 9 by 5 by 3 inch loaf pan. Butter tops and sprinkle with additional wheat germ. Cover pans loosely with plastic wrap. Let rise about 1 hour or until doubled. Bake in 375 degree oven 35 to 40 minutes. Remove from pans immediately. Cool on rack. Makes 2 loaves.

- HARVEST HOME POT ROAST
- $3\frac{1}{2}$ to $4\frac{1}{2}$ pound arm or boneless shoulder pot-roast or beef blade roast*
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 2 tablespoons cooking fat
- 1 envelope onion soup mix
- 1 teaspoon basil
- $\frac{3}{4}$ cup water
- 16 ounce can tomatoes
- 1 medium acorn squash, cut in 12 pieces and pared
- 1 pound zucchini, sliced (4 cups)
- 1 teaspoon salt
- Water
- 3 tablespoons flour

Dredge meat in 2 tablespoons flour; brown in cooking fat in large Dutch oven or frying-pan. Pour off drippings. Stir onion soup mix and basil into $\frac{3}{4}$ cup water and add to meat. Cover tightly and cook in slow oven (325 degrees) $2\frac{1}{2}$ hours (until almost tender).

Drain $\frac{1}{2}$ cup liquid from tomatoes and reserve. Add tomatoes with remaining liquid and acorn squash to meat. Cook covered, 25 to 35 minutes. Add zucchini and sprinkle with salt. Continue cooking, covered, 15 minutes or until meat and vegetables are tender. Remove pot-roast and vegetables to warm platter. Add water to cooking liquid, if necessary, to make 2 cups. Blend reserved tomato liquid with 3 tablespoons flour and use to thicken gravy. Serve gravy with pot roast and with Potato-Onion Gnocchi, if desired.

*For blade roast reduce initial cooking time to $1\frac{1}{2}$ hours for a total of $2\frac{1}{2}$ hours cooking, or until meat is tender.

- $\frac{1}{2}$ cup chopped walnuts
- Powdered sugar

Mix wheat germ, flour, sugar, soda, baking powder, salt and spices in large bowl. Add undrained pineapple, eggs, oil and vanilla. Mix well to form batter. Stir in carrot and walnuts. Pour into a greased and floured 12-cup bundt pan. Bake in a slow oven (325 degrees) 1 hour and 30 minutes or until wooden pick inserted into center comes out clean. Cool in pan 1 hour. Loosen edges, invert and remove pan. Sprinkle top with powdered sugar, if desired.

Note: For smaller cake, halve recipe and bake in a $7\frac{1}{2}$ -cup mold (or 9-inch ring mold) in a moderate oven (350 degrees) 40 to 45 minutes. Cool in pan 30 minutes.

One pot cooking

- HARVEST CHICKEN
- 2 pounds chicken parts
- 2 tablespoons shortening
- 1 can (10% ounces) condensed chicken broth
- 12 pitted dried prunes (about $\frac{1}{2}$ cup)
- 2 tablespoons apricot preserves
- $1\frac{1}{8}$ teaspoon ground allspice
- $1\frac{1}{4}$ cup water
- 3 tablespoons cornstarch
- 8 thin slices lemon
- Cooked rice

In skillet, brown chicken in shortening; pour off fat. Add broth, prunes, preserves and allspice. Cover. Cook over low heat 45 minutes or until tender. Stir occasionally.

Mix water and cornstarch. Gradually blend into chicken mixture. Cook, stirring until thickened. Add lemon; heat. Serve with rice. Makes 4 servings.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

We aren't going to get into a discussion about the merit or lack of merit in West's opening lead. Suffice to say that it gave former internationalist John Crawford, who has played little bridge in the last 10 years, a chance to show that his dummy play is still exceptional.

He started by playing a low diamond from dummy. He wanted to save the king-jack-10 for the future. Then at trick two he led his deuce of clubs. This play was made with a two fold reason. First of all he wanted to maintain as much communication as possible. Secondly, he expected to lose two club tricks in any event and wanted to avoid the loss of three in case there was a singleton ace in the West hand.

Sure enough, there was. West had to use his ace on Johnny's deuce. West shifted to a spade, but there was nothing more that the defense could do. Johnny took his ace and played clubs. East won and led back a spade to his partner's queen. Another spade put Johnny back in his hand. Just for frosting on the cake Johnny cashed his last clubs and took a heart finesse for an overtrick.

Ask the Jacobys

A letter from Vermont reads, "We play weak two-bids. I elected to open two hearts with:

♣ QJ976 ♥ KQJ965 ♦ 2 ♠ 8. I was severely criticized, yet with nine high-card points and a good six-card suit my hand seems to meet all conditions for the bid.

We have to go along with the criticism. The hand meets all conditions except that it is too powerful. Our reader should have passed and planned to bid both his suits later.

Ballistic teams fly to Calgary tomorrow

Two Pleasanton soccer teams will be the only American sides entered in this weekend's Labor Day tournament in Calgary, Alberta.

Both the Ballistic United under-12 and Ballistic Dynamo under-16 teams are entered in the tourney, one of Canada's largest. Sixteen clubs will be entered in each age group.

The Ballistics will be giving away a year in each age group as Canadian division are made through a year, i.e., 16 and under instead of under-16.

The local teams leave tomorrow for tournament play on Saturday and Sunday. They conclude the competitive aspect of the journey Monday with an exhibition game.

The United under-12's have played 15 games since July 26 and have a record of 13-1-1. Both the tie and the loss came against under-14 sides.

Two returning players from last season's squad will anchor the defense; center halfback David Woodward and center fullback Edward Kinyon.

A pair of 11-year olds, Jamie Herwatt and Frankie Duarte, and Mike Deleray, a star on the last U-10 team will spearhead the front line.

Goal keeper Andy Eelsing, just up from the under-10 ranks, will hold down the last line of defense.

Chubb softballers win

Faraudo scores clincher

J. Chubb Insurance picked up an unearned run in the top of the eleventh inning to take a painstaking, 11-10, opening round play-off win over Kavanagh Liquors in Livermore Slow-pitch action.

With one out rightfielder Jeff "Tiny" Faraudo, who had previously singled twice, reached first on an error by Kavanagh thirdbaseman Dean Lynn. Back-to-back singles by Mike Lawson and firstbaseman Dutch Van Wey then sent Faraudo home with what proved to be the winning run.

Most of the scoring came early as Chubb led, 10-8, after two-and-a-half. However, the Liquormen came up with a pair in the last of the fourth and the tie stood through six scoreless innings.

Lawson was 3-for-5 to lead the Chubb squad while team mate Bob Bronzan hit a double and Larry Nelson a triple.

Lynn was the batting star for the losers, going 5-for-6 with a double. Lead-off batter Stan Peters had five singles in a row for Kavanagh, before being retired on a tenth inning fly out to center.

Gerry Girard was 3-for-3 for the losers, who outthit Chubb 22-17, and Jim Koshamura, Micky Faeth and Larry Gonzales each doubled.

Blair Foods pitcher Pat Moore sparked a last minute rally which gave his team a 10-9 win over Associated Professions in the other play-off match-up.

Moore, batting in the tenth slot, led off the bottom of the seventh with a single, moved to third on shortstop Tom Devony's double and scored on a single by Mike Orr.

Mike Sorini, with two solo home runs, and Ron Rasmussen, a homer and a double, provided the winners power. Larry Carpenter added a double.

Brad Santucci and Bill Beyers each were 3-for-4 while Eddie King tripled and Brian Johnson doubled for the Pros. Play-off action continues today. Kavanagh faces Associated Professions and Blair Foods will meet Chubb

Beaulieu fires 74 to win junior golf

Bob Beaulieu, a Pleasanton golfer, shot a two-over 74, highlighting the annual Las Positas Junior Golf Championship, held yesterday.

Bdauieu, 16, won the boys' 14-and-up bracket by putting together rounds of 38 and 36. Scott Peters, also of Pleasanton, was three back with 77. Before confronting the back nine, Peters was six over, and roared back with a one-under 35 to make it somewhat of a contest.

Finishing third through seventh were John Zender, 79; Rick Gielow, 81; Dean Shotwell, 82; Jeff Rhodie, 84; and Bill Lavelle and Mike Silva, tied at 86.

In the boys' 12-13 class, Jeff Hoffman parred the 331-yard first hole for a sudden-death win over Rick Burns and Frank Belline.

After the regulation nine holes, the trio had carded 42's. Following Hoffman's win, Burns then parred the 150-yard second hole to beat Belline.

A four-way tie for fourth resulted among Chuck Lennier, Scott Clifton, Jim Grant and Craig Spitzer, who shot 48's.

Jim Carpetta set a course record, going even-bogey for four holes, to win the boys' 10-11 division. Carpetta shot a 20.

Sean Cassidy took second at 23, while Larry Eastridge was third at 25. Harold Harmon and Scott Mandle were fourth at 28.

Graham Alexander set a course record in the boys' nine-and-under group, firing a 21. Steve Rocereto and Mel Grisel were second and third at 25 and 28.

In the girls' advanced four-hole play, Cindy Morton shot a 29, edging Terry Grisel at 30.

Ann Cooper fired a 36, two up on Robin Cherb, to win the girls' intermediate. And Ann Gagetta won the beginners' title, shooting a 22 for two holes. Cynthia Cassidy was second at 24.

In all-around summer junior play, winning respective divisions were Peters, Hoffmann, Carpetta, Alexander and Mike Lee.

Count fans 14, Giants whip Expos

Sellout crowd set for Raider-Niner tangle

The Oakland Raiders will play the San Francisco 49ers Saturday night in the Oakland Coliseum before a sellout crowd of over 52,000.

The game will mark the ninth annual pre-season meeting of the Raiders and 49ers, who started the series in 1967.

The Raiders hold a 6-2 edge in the series.

San Francisco won the first game, 13-10, in 1967 and captured a 34-21 win in 1972. The teams have played twice in league games, each winning one. The 49ers won, 38-7, in 1970 and the Raiders won, 35-24, last season.

The Raiders enter the game with three straight pre-season victories and 10 in their last 11 games over three seasons. Oakland has defeated Detroit 34-0, Pittsburgh 24-21 and Atlanta 22-7 this year.

The 49ers are 1-2 in the pre-season. They defeated the Cleveland Browns, 17-13, before bowing to Los Angeles, 10-6, and to San Diego, 20-7.

San Francisco is expected to start an all-veteran team on defense and 10 of 11 veterans on offense. Only center Bill Reid of Stanford is a first-year man. Regular 49er center Forrest Blue is expected to play, however.

The remainder of the San Francisco offensive unit has Gene Washington and Bob Hayes at wide receivers, Tom Mitchell at tight end, John Watson and Cas Banaszek at tackles, Jean Barrett and Woody Peoples at guards, Tom Owen at quarterback and Wilbur Jackson and Larry Schreiber at running backs.

Defensively, the 49ers will start Tommy Hart and Cedrick Hardman at ends, Bill Sandifer and Bob Hoskins at tackles, Skip Vanderbunt, Frank Nunley and Dave Washington at linebackers, Jimmy Johnson and Bruce Taylor at cornerbacks and Mel Phillips and Ralph McGill at safeties. Tom Wittum is the punter, and Bruce Gossett and Steve Mike-Mayer are the placekickers.

Steve Spurrier and Norm Snead, other veteran 49er quarterbacks, are also expected to play against the Raiders. Snead is the passing leader after three games with 34 completions of 58 passes for 354 yards and two touchdowns.

Schreiber is both the rushing leader (34 carries for 160 yards) and the pass receiving leader (12 for 80 yards).

Smith on skids, unseeded in Open

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — Arthur Ashe, hoping to repeat his triumph at Wimbledon, and Stan Smith, trying to regain the form that had him ranked among the world's top players two years ago, play opening-round matches Wednesday as the United States Open Tennis Championships get under way at the West Side Tennis Club.

Ashe, who upset Jimmy Connors in four sets in the Wimbledon final in June, will go against unheralded West German Harold Elschenbroich in the first match of the day. Ashe is seeded fourth for the Open.

His latest outing was at the U.S. Pro Tennis Championships at Brookline, Mass. where he lost in the semifinals in four sets to highly touted Argentine Guillermo Vilas.

Smith, mired in a slump that has seen him fall from the top ranks of the world's players to a point where he is not even among the 16 seeded players here, faces New Zealand's Onny Parun in the evening session, the first time this tourney has been played at night.

Amador pre-registration Sept. 15

Pre-registration for Amador Valley Adult Education fall quarter classes is scheduled Sept. 15 to 18 with initial sessions on Monday, Sept. 22. Many new classes have been added for the fall quarter, according to Martin Connolly, coordinator of continuing education. These new classes cover a wide range of interests and are primarily the result of requests from the community.

Pre-registration will be held from 7 to 9 p.m. on Monday and Wednesday at Dublin High School and Tuesday and Thursday (Sept. 16 and 18) at Amador Valley High School. The tuition fee is $4 per person, per quarter. No charge is made for high school credit classes to those who do not have a diploma. No charge is made for those enrolling in citizenship and English for the Foreign Born.

Registration fees and-or special fees will be refunded only if the class is cancelled before the third meeting or if a student has not attended and applies for a refund within two weeks from the date on which the class begins.

In classes where instructional materials are provided or additional expenses are incurred by the school, a fee is charged. All fees are due and payable at the time of registration.

Pottery, $5; upholstery, $3; woodshop, $8; wood refinishing, $5; leather craft, $2; beginning photography, $1.

Classes will be held at Amador Valley High on Tuesdays and Thursdays and at Dublin High School on Mondays and Wednesdays. Camp Parks, Pleasanton Convalescent Home, Harvest Park School, Komandorski Village, Presbyterian Church and the Federal Youth Center will also be the site of Amador Adult Education classes.

Among the new classes set this fall are Computer Fundamentals, Tuesday nights at Amador; How to Teach Your Child to Read, Tuesdays at Amador; Magnetic Tape Selectric Typewriter, Note-hand, both Tuesday nights at Amador; Mixed Choir, Thursdays at Amador; Weaving as an Art Form, Tuesdays at Amador; Aviation Ground School, Thursdays at Amador; Vinology, Wednesdays at Dublin; Creative Job Seeking, Wednesdays at Dublin; Asian Cooking.

Pair of winners

Mrs. Austin O'Dell and daughter, Pam, of Blackbird Dr., Pleasanton, fashionably model coordinated matching outfits from J. H. Collectables in sage, accentuated with loden green in washable polyester, from the Separate Affair in Dublin. Mrs. O'Dell was the winner of a drawing held recently entitling her to a two piece outfit. Pam found the Separate Affair a good place to shop for her "back to school" wardrobe. For her prize, won by mother, Pam chose a three piece outfit consisting of vest, skirt and shirt of brushed denim.

Geldermann happy with ABAG move

Harlann Geldermann, developer of the proposed Las Positas New Town just north of Livermore, welcomed the Association of Bay Area Governments (ABAG) decision to maintain its position on the controversial development. ABAG had agreed in June to review the specific plan for New Town when it was developed after rejecting the development unless the environmental problems were dealt with. ABAG reaffirmed that stand at its Aug. 21 meeting.

'Tax reconstruction needed'

Mori explains reasons for override vote

Assemblyman Floyd Mori, D-Pleasanton, in reviewing why he voted to override Gov. Edmund G. Brown, Jr.'s veto on an education bill, says "What is needed is a restructuring of the tax system to provide an adequate and consistent source of financing for public education."

The State Assembly failed to override the veto on a 41-34 vote. An override would have meant an additional $500,000 to school districts within the 15th Assembly District (which includes Pleasanton, Livermore and Dublin).

Mori adds that Democrats were urged by the Governor and party leadership to vote against the override. In spite of this, Mori said, "I felt that the potential benefit to students in my district outweighed any political considerations."

Mori said that in considering the veto, "I had attempted to divorce myself from the politics of the issue and evaluate solely on the merits of the proposed legislation (AB 220, Rodda). It has been commented that the quality of education in California must be upgraded. "At this point, I am merely concerned with maintaining existing programs in schools within the district," said Assemblyman Mori. Mori reiterated that he is aware funding provided by SB 220 is only a short term solution to the immediate problem, "and I have committed myself to developing long-range solutions."

Meditation lecture set at Walnut Grove

PLEASANTON — A free public lecture on transcendental meditation will be given at Walnut Grove School, 5199 Black Ave., at 8 p.m. Tuesday, Sept. 2.

Dr. David Halpern of Berkeley, who calls meditation "a new technology for health," will speak. The physician is an emergency room specialist who has worked at the Family Health Care Center, San Ramon.

Dr. Halpern will discuss various research which has demonstrated TM's effectiveness in alleviating stress-related illnesses (ulcers, high blood pressure, insomnia, anxiety, tension headaches and general fatigue). Once learned, the meditating technique is performed twice a day and is effective even when the meditator is simply sitting at his desk, on a bus, or in another public place. The relaxation it provides is said to be even deeper than a sound sleep.

Those who can't make Tuesday night's lecture are invited to a gathering the following Tuesday, Sept. 9, in the Livermore Public Library (1000 S. Livermore Ave.) at 8 p.m.

400,000 volunteers in two years. But the big news is the kind of people coming in.

Today's Army is getting a unique view of today's young people.

In the last two years without the draft, over 400,000 young Americans have chosen to serve in the Army.

As a result, the Army today stands at full authorized strength and is, in fact, ahead of schedule for fielding 16 ready divisions.

Not only are the numbers impressive, but so are the people. 66% of them have completed high school. 14,000 have some college behind them. And they'll be able to continue their educations while in the Army.

According to commanders in the field, today's young volunteers are making terrific soldiers. They're looking for personal challenge, and getting it. They're at an age where they want to test themselves, and they're doing it. In return for responsibility, opportunity and maturity, they're giving 100% to the job of soldiering.

It's a good situation, and getting better.

And perhaps not so surprising when you consider what today's Army has to offer:

We start a young soldier at $344.10 a month, with a raise to $383.40 in just four months.

For those who qualify, there are over 200 specific job-training courses to choose from. Most of these courses develop skills that can be used in civilian life.

The opportunities to continue a formal education are varied and extensive. We have soldiers who go on to complete high school. Soldiers who start and finish college. And some who even acquire advanced degrees.

Today, the Army's educational opportunities have been expanded with the introduction of "Project Ahead" — a program that involves over 1200 colleges and universities and enables a young person to enlist in the Army and start college at the same time. And all with the Army paying up to 75% of the tuition costs.

In addition to salary, there are the traditional benefits of food, clothing, housing, medical and dental care, and 30 days' paid vacation each year. All of which allow the more enterprising to build a savings account.

And there is the opportunity for travel. Not only throughout the continental United States, but to Europe, Hawaii, Korea and other assignments around the world.

The Army offer reads well, but it doesn't come easy. It takes intelligence, courage, discipline, teamwork, pride in self and love of country. It says a lot for America that, in just two years, 400,000 young people have volunteered to serve in its Army.
